Catholic Charities 2024 Annual Appeal

A message from Ed Langlois, communications director for Catholic Charities of Oregon

Dear friend,

Catholic Charities' annual appeal is set for parishes throughout western Oregon the weekend of May 4 and 5. But it's never too early to give to such a worthy cause.

Your gift to our 2024 annual appeal enables us to continue to offer life changing services such as transitional housing, permanent housing with supportive services, immigration legal help, refugee aid, family support, case management and more.

Parishes and Catholic Charities make a great team.

And as we continue celebrating our 90th year and the strong women who started Catholic social service in Oregon, (both women religious and lay women) we are inviting you to donate in the name of a woman you admire. If you wish, we'll list her name on our website, in our digital newsletter, in our parish print newsletter and on social media. It will be a sweet act as Mother's Day approaches.

All gifts are welcome and appreciated: Give today.

Give in honor of a woman you admire

A Message from Catholic Charities of Oregon

Dear Friend,

We're a week away from Catholic Charities of Oregon's 2024 Annual Appeal. This second collection will be held in parishes throughout western Oregon the weekend of May 4 and 5. But it's never too early to give.

When you give to Catholic Charities, you help ensure life changing services for the most vulnerable Oregonians. We offer outreach to homeless camps, housing, food and other social services designed to keep people in housing once they get there. We resettle refugees and give expert legal help to immigrants seeking to follow the law.

But it's all about relationships. Victoria Waldrep, who leads our outreach to homeless people in an effort to help them get housed, says this:

"I've had people call out of their tents and say, 'Is that you, Victoria?' Then they come out and throw their arms around me."

And as we continue celebrating our 90th year and the strong women who started Catholic social service in Oregon, (both women religious and lay women) we are inviting you to donate in the name of a woman you admire. If you wish, we'll list her name on our website, in our digital newsletter, in our parish print newsletter and on social media. It will be a perfect thing to do as Mother's Day approaches.

You have the power to give hope

A Message from Ed Langlois, communications director for Catholic Charities of Oregon

Dear Friend,

This weekend, Catholic Charities of Oregon's 2024 Annual Appeal takes place in parishes throughout western Oregon. This second collection helps ensure life changing services are available to our neighbors with greatest need.

You have the power to give hope and build futures via homeless camp outreach, housing, refugee resettlement, immigration legal services and aid to families.

Founded during the Great Depression, we are your official domestic relief agency. The need continues today, and you are part of the solution.

And as we continue celebrating our 90th year and the strong women who started Catholic social service in Oregon, (both women religious and lay women) we are inviting you to donate in the name of a woman you admire. If you wish, we'll list her name on our website, in our digital newsletter, in our parish print newsletter and on social media. It will be a sweet act as Mother's Day approaches.

"Whatever you did for the least of these, you did for me." –

Not too late to honor a woman you admire

A Message from Catholic Charities of Oregon

Dear Friend,

Catholic Charities of Oregon held its annual second collection appeal in parishes throughout western Oregon last weekend. But it's never too late to give.

We are still marking our 90th anniversary and the strong women who founded Catholic social ministry in Oregon, including women religious and lay women. As Mother's Day is upon us, you can still give in honor of a woman you admire. If you wish, we'll list her name on our website, in our digital newsletter, in our parish print newsletter and on social media.

All gifts are welcome and appreciated; make a donation here.
